Introduction
At the request of the Provost, The Committee on Assessment of Institutional Effectiveness is undertaking reviews of undergraduate programs that do not have suitable external reviews. The current plan is to review each such program every seven years, with submissions from programs due in the Fall and the reviews completed by the following Spring. Here is the current planned schedule, though of course changes are likely to be made in later years. Only four schools are involved, as all undergraduate programs in other schools either have external reviews or are likely to have them soon. Schools are identified by a slight variant of IR codes:

- ART: School of the Arts
